

You are always on my mind

Friday morning, it is still dark
Pour myself a coffee, pour it into a mug
Everything goes in a slow motion way
Think I got to start into a brand new day

Who are you that I should lie
Is it too late to give it another try

You are always on my mind...

I got away with it so many times
Until at the end you left me behind
So many things I have done wrong
Too much to put it in this song

Who are you that I should lie
Is it too late to give it another try

You are always on my mind...

Days of laughter, days of pain
All my love might be in vain
My mind you're always on
But to you I just belong
